DETAILED ACTION

1. This is in response to amendment filed on 08/04/2003 (paper # 10).
2. Claims 31-60 are pending for examination, claims 1-30 have been canceled, and claims 31-60 are newly added.
3. A telephone interview has been conducted between the examiner and the attorney (Mr. Kevin G. Shao) of this case on 11/06/2003. During the interview, the examiner requested the applicant to provide the mapping or supporting of claimed subject matters according to the instant specification. The attorney requested to defer the discussion until the next day, but has not called the examiner back for further discussion. Thus, the examiner gives the following rejections.

Specification

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

The following is a quotation of 37 CFR 1.71(a)-(c):

(a) The specification must include a written description of the invention or discovery and of the manner and process of making and using the same, and is required to be in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art or science to which the invention or discovery appertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same.

(b) The specification must set forth the precise invention for which a patent is solicited, in such manner as to distinguish it from other inventions and from what is old. It must describe completely a specific embodiment of the process, machine, manufacture, composition of matter or improvement invented, and must explain the mode of operation or principle whenever applicable. The best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention must be set forth.

The specification is objected to under 37 CFR 1.71 because the specification failing to provide an adequate written description of the invention. Initially, the examiner notices the separate nature of the written description requirement as contrasted to the enablement requirement of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112. See In re Barker, 559 F.2d 588, 194 USPQ 470 (C.C.P.A. 1977). The function of the written description requirement is to ensure that the inventor had possession, as of the filing date of the application here relied on, of the specific subject matter later claimed by him. See In re Edwards, 568 F.2d 1349, 196 USPQ 465 (C.C.P.A. 1978). The question is not merely one of literal support for the questioned claim language in the original disclosure, it is one of the disclosure of concepts. See In re Wilder, 736 F.2d 1516 222 USPQ 369 (Fed. Cir. 1984) and In re Kaslow, 707 F.2d 1366, 217 USPQ 1089 (Fed. Cir. 1983). It appears that applicant has attempted to incorporate a plurality of database tables (e.g., look-up tables, root sequence tables, sequence tables and end sequence tables, etc.) into his specification to thereby support claims to any combination or permutation of features therefrom. The fact that features are mentioned individually does not mean the proposed invention is innovative, since the associations among these different tables and the mechanism for applying these tables are missing. There must be some evidence within the application filed that applicant was in possession of the claimed combinations. Incorporation by reference of a dictionary does not constitute disclosure of a novel which uses only words from that dictionary. Similarly, without more, the stand alone database tables does not provide support for combining any features, regardless of what applicants may teach.

To be effective in showing possession of the invention, an incorporation of the apparatus and mechanisms derived from the disclosed tables or elements which specifically contribute to the claimed features and for what purpose should be revealed and mapped properly.

If applicants continue to prosecute the application, revision of the specification and claims to present the application in proper form is required. While an application can be amended to make it clearly understandable, no new subject matter can be added to the originally specification.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claims 31-60, are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claim(s) contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor(s), at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention.

As to claims 31, 41 and 51, Applicant fails to define any request structure and the claimed request receiving mechanism that are used for updating a first fragment of the file. As a matter of fact, the examiner searches through the whole specification and found no word of "request". Since there are a plurality of ways to define a request and various mechanism can be used in the relevant art to receive a request for updating a file, hence without defining a particular request restructure and specify a receiving mechanism supported by the claimed system, it is not reasonably convey to one skilled person in the relevant art to process the claimed request for updating a first fragment of the file. Thus, the system is not enable one skilled person in the art to make/use the invention.

As to claims 32-40, 42-50 and 52-60, these claims have the same defects as their base claims, hence are rejected for the same reason.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 31-60 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
